THERE ARE 7 BASIC TYPES OF PERSONALITIES

Most people regardless of ethnicity fit into these categories or a combination of the 7 types. By observing similar facial and body combination as a composite, it can be determined what personality you best fit. The 7 personality types are:

JUPITERIAN, SATURNIAN, LUNARIAN, MARTIAN, APOLLO, MERCURIAN, VENUSIAN

• Jupiterian

- Many Jupiterians are found between the covers of Fortune 500. They are ambitious and the leader of men and are designed to command. They have great ambition, pride of their position in society, are confident and attractive, naturally religious. Despite their vanity, they are warm hearted and this is exhibited by their feeling for humanity. Generosity is one of their traits. Often extravagant in their lifestyle.
- Professions: They have a love for high positions, are CEO'S, politicians, military commanders, Religious Leaders.
- Physical Characteristics:
They are of medium height, not the tallest of the types (that is usually the Saturnian), neither are they the shortest (those are the Mercurians). They are strongly built, fleshy but not fat, large boned. They have squarely set shoulders.
- Facial Characteristics: Jupiterians have large, expressive eyes with mild expressions to their face showing kindness of spirit. They tend to have straight noses with slightly fuller lips and larger mouths, strong white teeth and cheekbones are not prominent. Their chin is firm, sometimes dimpled. Their hair is darker brown or chestnut normally (though there are a few blond Jupiterians). It may fall out early in life. Their voice is musical, deep and rich and moves others to be inspired to have an alliance with them.
- Health: Jupiterians have a tendency to overeat and enjoy their wine which can lead to digestive issues. Their vigorous constitution benefits them. They always have to be conscious of their weight as they are not driven to exercise.
- Colors: They favor royal blue, burgundy, regal and rich colors.
- Lifestyle: An elegant and stately home in a desired neighborhood, Mercedes and BMWs and the trappings of a successful lifestyle. Jupiterians are comfortable in a country clubs environment, golf and sailing are on their agenda. They enjoy entertaining on a large scale, stock their home with fine wines and gourmet foods. Generally taking full advantage of the benefits of their success. Often they open their home to charitable causes and fundraising events as they are generous in supporting organizations. This is a generalization as there are some Jupiterians that do not pursue the limelight and live a quieter lifestyle but are confident in their success and the power it offers.

- Faults: There are no ‘good’ or ‘bad’ personality types. However, each type tends to have faults that are in keeping with their overall personality. In the case of the Jupiterian they tend to be too extravagant and their egos will allow them to live beyond their means. They depend on themselves and do not always ask advice and counsel of others. They can be domineering and dictatorial, are predisposed to overeating and overindulging. They are often unhappily married as they concentrate on their achieving success and position. In some cases they are overbearing, selfish and in the extreme despotic. This is not a type that has tendencies to depression or suicide as they have strong mental constitutions.
- Some examples of public figures and celebrities who would be in this personality type and share many of the characteristics described above.

● Saturnian

- Encountering a pure Saturnian is fairly rare. They are often a mixture of another personality type that influences their behavior and character traits. They are among the most misunderstood of the 7 personality types and must be regarded as having a special place in humanity as the necessary “balance wheel” in society.
- Saturnians are intellectual, analytical, sober, cautious, secretive, prudent, wise, and avoid socializing. A Saturnian is a peculiar person with sober qualities. They always look before leaping. Many Saturnians are high minded, deep thinkers like Abraham Lincoln. Generally they are more pessimistic than optimistic (glass is half empty) and have a darker view of matters. Saturnians are not especially social and prefer solitude. They may often be viewed as a “wet blanket” socially since they lack the ability to enter into the spirit of an event. They are often investigative, pursue the minutia, like to solve complex problems and are professorial.
- By nature this type is scientific and a philosophical, mathematically gifted and are some of the finest musical composers. Saturnians do not like to be contradicted. They can be skilled in oration but also dogmatic in their beliefs and inflexible in their point of view and in pursuing their agenda and are sometimes evolve as rebels. Saturnians hold enthusiasm in check and keep all other types from going too fast and being carried away with excessive spirit. They are a balance wheel in society.

- Professions: Saturnians gravitate toward scientific professions, lab research, mathematical research, complex musical composition, make excellent detectives, mystery writers, serious “character actors,” and rarely but are sometimes political notables if mixed with another personality type. They would not enjoy or tolerate participating in campaigns, but would serve diligently if appointed. Other professions that attract Saturnians are: Chemistry, Horticulture, Botany, Architectural Exploration, IT software programmer, Biology, Ministry. They also have a mystical and superstitious streak which leads to pursuing Occult studies. Saturnians are generally attracted to any profession where they are called upon to be problem solvers as they are deep and true scientists by nature and go beyond obvious shallow conclusions.
- Physical Characteristics: They are the tallest and the thinnest of all of the types and are gaunt in overall appearance, having narrow frames. Saturnians have dark, thick, black hair. Their complexion tends to be yellowish or pale rather than rosy. The face of the Saturnian could be described as “hatchet-shaped” with high prominent cheekbones and sunken cheeks. They have thick eyebrows over deep set eyes with a sad subdued expression. Their nose is long and straight and lips are thin. The Saturnian has a long neck exposing the Adam’s apple. They have high shoulders and poor posture, often stooped. Their hands are thin and narrow, often with long knotty fingers and hard in texture.
- Health: There is a tendency to be susceptible to arthritis, Rheumatism, Varicose Veins; their lower limbs are their weak points of their body. They are also inclined to respiratory infections. They are predisposed to depression.
- Colors: Saturnians favor grey, black, browns and very muted dark shades of dark blues.
- Lifestyle: By nature Saturnians are loners. They avoid social interaction and prefer their solitude. They prefer the country to the city. They are too suspicious to go into business with partners, instead prefer to invest in real estate and buildings than stocks and bonds as they are instinctively conservative. Saturnians resist restrictions and rules, triggering them to rebel if rubbed the wrong way. However their conservatism restrains them from getting caught up in unreal causes. They prefer lecturing to conversing and are profound when they do speak. They are not great lovers of art in general and prefer landscapes. This type enjoys ghost stories and mysteries for pleasure. Saturnians watch their budget and do not indulge in extravagant purchases, driving a practical and simple car. Often, Saturnians do not marry, they are committed bachelors or bachelorettes.
- Faults: In the extreme scale they will tend to be morbid, melancholy, gloomy, pessimistic and stingy. If they were to have any anti-social tendencies they would be anarchists, impose their views on others. They become chronic opposers of everything, no matter what it is; they are against it and are dogmatic in defense of their position. Sometimes their isolation and oddities cause them to remove themselves from society in a hermit-like existence.

- The following famous and newsworthy people have many of the physical characteristics of a Saturnian and generally share “some” of the traits of the personality type.

Abraham Lincoln, Barrack Obama (mixed with Jupiter), Mitt Romney (mainly Jupiterian with a some Saturnian) Edgar Allen Poe, Sherlock Holmes, Robert Pattinson, Hugh Hefner (mixed with some Mercurian), John Lennon, Art Garfunkel, Prince Charles, Sherlock Holmes, Hugh Grant, Prince Charles John Lennon, Hugh Grant, Hugh Laurie

• Lunarian

- Imagination defines them. Their realm is a world of imagination. They live in the mental world.
- Their realm is a world of imagination. It is rare to find “pure” Lunarians. Often they are some part or blend of the other personality types. Lunarians keep other personality types and humanity from becoming too material, gifting us with the ability to see “with the mind’s eye.” They are prominent as authors, poets and playwrights, drawing upon their ability to communicate descriptively in a way that captures images so the readers can form mental pictures with their extensive colorful vocabulary and do have the facility of speech with an impressive vocabulary. Their works evolve into “living realities.” They build air castles and often yearn for things beyond their reach. This is why they are great travelers, travel writers and film makers as well as composers. Lunarians are great sailors, as they have a penchant for water. They are naturally nervous, restless, love change and traveling to exotic locations. They are soothed by and thrive on the murmur of the waves. Physical exertion is distasteful to them, and lack self-confidence in pursuing the more active vocations in the world. You are not likely to find them in the gym or health club working out. Lunarians are sensitive and imagine slights from others.
- Body Characteristics: The Lunarian is tall, has a fleshy build with soft curves and is not muscular. They have thick lower limbs and large feet. It should be noted that the color of their completion is almost dead white. Lunarians have a slow gait when they walk because of lack of high arches. Their hands are large, soft in consistency, and often have a small thumb .
- Facial Characteristics: Lunarians have a round head which is broad through the temples, their forehead is low and sometimes almost bulges over the eyebrow. They have fine hair (almost straggly) which is usually straight and blond or light brown with eyebrows that are scant. Their eyes are often watery, round and pale, staring in appearance (not sparkly), luminous and can protrude. The color of their eyes is a commonly a very pale blue, although depending on the ethnicity they can also be a dull brown. Their nose is small, turns up at the end with nostrils exposed (a pug nose). Lunarians have a smaller mouth with larger teeth. Their neck is flabby and fleshy in consistency and they are prone when aging to develop a double chin. Lunarians have small ears that are close to their head and a high-pitched voice, thin in volume.

- Health: Potential weakness: anemia, kidney problems and weak heart are health problems that can be encountered. Peritonitis is a possibility if their immune system is compromised and in some instances women have female and are possibly prone to reproductive issues. Their imagination and nervous nature can propel them into a depressed frame of mind.
- Colors: Aqua blue, muted greens
- Professions: Authors, poets, musicians, professors of language (they are great linguists) or history, sailors, travel writers, composers, screenwriters, lecturers. Some Lunarians are students of the occult and consider themselves to possess psychic abilities.
- Lifestyle: Lunarians do not avoid marriage. But their choices are not determined by passion, as they are colder by nature and not affectionate. They are known to marry someone much older or younger than they are and can make peculiar matches. As they are naturally fickle, restless and selfish, constancy is not one of their virtues. They do not entertain often, preferring to be at their computer writing their latest novel or prose and are not generally social. Water is important to them so they do take sojourns to the beach (when it isn't crowded) or cast off on their sailboat. Their solitary ways allow them to create. They communicate by conveying ideas through their writing, and sometimes lectures as they do have the ability to mesmerize through their colorful vocabulary. They can be brilliant speakers. Lunarians have an ability to speak many languages. Traveling the world with a preference of cruising and taking journeys by water for the purpose of experiencing other cultures is a primary part of their personality which fuels their imagination. They must not be constrained and are compelled to see beyond the limited horizon. They prefer a variety of interesting food tending to enjoy offerings from other countries. In art their preference is anything representative of nature, water scenes, birds, flowers and animals that elevate their imagination. Classical music is their favorite along with some operas.
- Faults: Lunarians can become selfish and deceitful and a prisoner to their over-imagination, letting it run rampant to the point where they become disconnected with the real world and suffer depression, are gloomy or despondent. Since their mental world dictates and they are not physical they can become idle dreamers who are lazy preferring to live in the clouds and not the constraints of earth. Lunarians by nature are superstitious and this can lead them to having distorted views.
- Following are some examples of newsworthy or famous people who share some of the physical characteristics of this personality type.
Alfred Hitchcock, Truman Capote, Elton John, Michael Moore, George Lucas, Cee Lo Green

● Martian

- Martians are represented in the Fortune 500 of Executive lists as well as the Military. This type achieves success through persistence, focus, courage and determination, hard work and is generally found in every walk of life, providing the strength and direction to the business community, the army, the Church, and anywhere they can apply their boundless energy. They are steadfast and loyal friends and allies and possess firm opinions. Martians are unwavering in their beliefs and not easily restrained from their pursuits. Diplomacy is not their strength, they are people of few words, direct, and straightforward in their conversations with others and prefer to “get to the bottom line” quickly and “say it like it is,” not realizing they are perceived as abrasive and sometimes insensitive. Patience is also not their virtue. If others drone on with long explanations or stories they are annoyed as they have a quick grasp of situations and want to get to the point. Of all of the types, they are the bravest, willing to pursue their cause to the bitter end and are leaders of men and women, making excellent generals.

- Martians are “soldiers for their cause. They either engage in field of combat mentally or physically by aggression or staunch resistance and seek to overcome opposition at any cost. They are quick to engage and enlist in a battle, either physically or one of wits and will push with vigor against those who oppose them. There are diverse levels of the Martian type and a range of dispositions in dealing with the mental or the physical world. There are two kinds of “fighters”: the Martians that are the aggressors and force issues, and those that act in self-defense when pressure is put on them. They are steadfast in their purpose and refuse to be beaten, they do not understand the words “no” or “defeat” and will stubbornly resist any and all obstacles they encounter.
- Professions: Fortune 500 CEO’s, military, generals or admirals, politicians, law enforcement occupations, pilots, captains, church hierarchy, sports figures
- Physical Characteristics: Body characteristics: they are of medium height, very strongly built, have a square frame without a well-defined waistline, are muscular, and they stand erect with their broad shoulders held stiffly back. Their head is smaller than larger and they have a pronounced development of the lower base of the brain with a smaller forehead. This type has a short and strong neck and a broad expansive chest. Martians have strong, muscular legs, shorter in proportion to other types and walk with a firm footstep.
- Facial Characteristics: Their face is round or square in shape with thicker skin which can sometimes be described as slightly ruddy. The eyes of the Martian are a telling feature as they are bold looking (vary between small and round to slightly larger), having a bright expression appearing to be staring directly at you. Their nose is either long and straight or “Roman” and is sometimes turned up slightly at the end. Martians have a broad chin, firm and strong is usually found with small ears. The Martian’s voice is strong and resonant and suggests power in both male and female. Sometimes it can tend to be raspy as they are prone to throat and bronchial irritation. The Martian has square hands, fingers shorter in proportion to their palm which is thicker, firm with straight thumbs. Their hands are not flexible.

- Health: Martians have a robust constitution but are prone to bronchitis, laryngitis and issues with their vocal chords.
- Colors: Red, orange, gold, sometimes electric blue
- Lifestyle: The Martian type is generous with their money but enjoy spending it on their friends and luxuries. They are not hoarders and seek money for what it will buy for them rather than for the sake of having money itself and accumulating wealth. They are fortunate to attract many friends and admirers, whom they value and support. A Martian is the most steadfast and loyal friend for life that you can have. They are often misunderstood by others who do not know them because of their straightforward, often brusque manner and lack of tact, which may in some Martians may falsely make them appear to be not refined and sensitive.
- Martians are affectionate and amorous. When they fall in love it is with intensity and ardor. They make devoted husbands and wives. They thoroughly enjoy food, prefer plain solid food to gourmet delicacies and have an excellent appetite. They are physical types and must be active therefore enjoying sports such as gymnastics, softball, football, wrestling and boxing. It must be noted that “fair play” is their mantra. They believe that the best man/woman should win. Martians’ preferences in artwork are sports scenes, colorful modern paintings, hunting and battle scenes or historic prints. They read biographies, tales of heroes and heroines, and historical novels. In music they enjoy fiery songs, marching and brass bands, and rock.
- Faults: Because they are a strong personality they can become overbearing and domineering. A tendency to tunnel vision and stubbornly digging their heels in without considering the point of view of others is a possibility. Some Martians have a coarser skin and reddish tone to their hands, combined with broad nails. And these types have a temper.
- Following are some examples of newsworthy or famous people who share some of the physical characteristics of this personality type.

- Apollo

- Among the most fortunate “lucky” types. They are usually loved by all and have a magnetic personality. Tall, attractive, charming, highly intuitive. Apollos have the gift of making a brilliant show no matter how little they know about a subject. Additionally they are perceptive and read other people well because they are highly intuitive. They are spontaneous, versatile, happy, genial and attractive. Apollos have a love of the beautiful and artistic in everything. They are generally healthy, vigorous people identified by the great versatility of personality. They are inventive and can present old ideas in compelling new ways Life of the party and sought by all. Love luxury. They are opposite of the Saturnian and provide the lightheartedness in the world.

- Apollos manage to speak brilliantly on subjects they have not labored over researching. Not great students...they do not enjoy research or in depth intellectual pursuits...but then, with their overpowering charm and ability to speak on and captivate an audience, they do not feel the need to expend this effort. They are forgiven all their transgressions in life.

- Professions: They can adapt themselves to most any situation and morph into whatever field they are working in astonishing those they work with by their seeming mastery of any particular subject. Apollos are highly successful in business as they are capable of sensing the trends and demands of the public and have a trained eye for goods in the retail arena. Their taste is impeccable. They are excellent Agents at discovering talent but themselves do not have the creative focus or energy to be a committed artist. However quite often they succeed as actors because they are physically attractive and enjoy celebrity. Success is natural to them in whatever endeavors they pursue partially because of their magnetic personality. Their love of art and music often lead them to become art critics or promoters.
- Physical Characteristics: Body Characteristics: They are handsome, of medium height falling between the Jupiter and Saturnian but sometimes can be taller. They are shapely, muscular and athletic but not fleshy or heavy. The lines of their body are graceful curves, light and supple. Another feature that distinguishes the Apollo is that that have a spring to their step because of high insteps and graceful, well proportioned legs. The structure of their hand is refined with longer rather than shorter fingers in relation to the palm with rounded tips, not knotty and overall attractive. The type of hand and finger structure determine the influencing characteristics of this type. Their thumbs are generally flexible and curved which provides them with the spontaneity of their personality.
- Facial Characteristics: The Apollo has a pink color tone with a clear complexion. The texture of their hair is wavy, thick, blond or auburn in color and is fine. Their eyes are large, almond shaped, brown or blue with long lashes, and have a frank, honest expression, sparkling and brilliant. Their nose is finely shaped and their cheeks are full, firm and rounded with a shapely rounded chin that does not protrude. The Apollo neck is long and well shaped, muscular not showing the adams apple. They have a voice that is not resonant, but musical in tone.
- Health: Rarely have health issues as they have a robust constitution but can encounter heart weakness late in life. Prone to weak eyes
- Colors: Bright and pure colors, blues, turquoise, yellow green, pink, magenta

- Lifestyle: There is no doubt that Apollos lead a charmed life. Since success is natural to them and they are socially sought after, many of their successes come by way of those admirers willing to assist them. They attain high positions and although they are financially successful, they are not adept at saving. Their tastes are luxurious and they are willing to spend to satisfy them. They are generally kind people, do not hold grudges (in fact they often have the ability to win over their worst enemy) and enjoy engaging large circles of friends in conversations as they like to hear themselves talk. They do not make lasting friends, but have an extensive social circle. Entertaining is paramount and they enjoy banquets, celebratory events, and traveling the world. Apollos are quick to marry making spontaneous choices and want a mate to shine in society with him but often is not committed to a long term relationship as they are easily bored and distracted by new possibilities and easily disappointed in their choices. Though they are warm, kind and loving they are changeable and not constant. As a lover of beauty their homes are filled with fine furniture and artwork.
- Faults: This type craves notoriety and if they do not succeed by overestimating themselves they become bitter and revengeful. They imagine that there are those who conspire against them. However this type rarely becomes criminal in any way. They can lose all of their funds by their extravagance and lack of financial planning. As a result, they can have a tendency to gambling or foolish speculating.

- Following are some examples of newsworthy or famous people who share “some” of the physical characteristics of this personality type.

Bill Clinton (mixed with Jupiter), Doris Day, Arnold Schwarzenegger, Gregory Peck, Robert Redford, Jennifer Aniston, Ashton Kutcher, Robert Redford, Zac Efron (mixed with Mercurian), Katy Couric (mixed with Mercurian), Shepherd Smith

• Mercurian

- Mercurians are the quickest, most adroit and active of all of the types. Clever, financially astute, they make excellent diplomats. They think on their feet and can be cunning when the situation requires it. Mercurians are skilled and proficient at precision games, fond of oratory, tactful and adroit. They are persuasive and shrewd. Mercurians are born mathematicians and experts in finance. There is no puzzle they cannot solve. This type has tireless energy (sometimes are high strung and anxious) but are generally successful in most endeavors as they are a gifted judge of human nature.
- Professions: Mercurians dominate the fields of law, medicine(physicians), finance, are natural entrepreneurs, abundant in the field of entertainment as comedians, actors, writers. They are clever managers and know how to stay in the background having others do their bidding and are capable of turning all situations to their advantage, losing no opportunities. As Physicians, they are excellent diagnosticians coupled with their scientific aptitude. As Lawyers, they possess the keenness of seeing a question from many sides coupled their intuitive skill of judging their opponent's weakness which provides them with a superior advantage in presenting a case. As actors, their powers of mimicry and imitation enable them to create and morph into convincing and realistic characters. As Magicians they reign supreme like the Great Houdini & David Copperfield.

- Physical Characteristics: Body Characteristics: Mercurians are small in stature, compactly built and are always tidy in appearance. They have an intense stance giving the impression that they are always ready to spring to action. Generally they do not gain weight until later in life and are on the thinner and slightly built side. However they are described as “wirey”, surprising others with their unexpected strength which is not often called upon in their mental world. Overall they are well proportioned agile and quick. Most Mercurians have flexible hands reinforcing their elasticity of mind and the qualities of the type. Short fingers add to the quickness of seizing an opportunity and being decisive in action.
- Facial Characteristics: Their face is often oval in shape with a somewhat pointed, sharp chin and ears. They have varying colors of hair but often it is darker in color, sometimes auburn and dark, sharp eyes. If they are male and grow a beard it would be in the VanDyke fashion. When looking at others, they look directly and intensely at the person they are speaking with (as though they are looking through you) because they are likely estimating who you are. The voice of the Mercurian is of medium volume and good carrying quality.
- Health: Most inclined to anxiety because of their intensity and high strung nervous energy and the mental stress they are prone to. Their minds are overactive. They are basically healthy but inclined to back, stomach and mild liver disorders. Meditation would help but this type is not likely to sit still long enough for it to be effective.
- Colors: Greens, Shades of Beige, Browns
- Lifestyle: Mercurians are even tempered, love family and children and make dependable friends . They are fond of the opposite sex but their focus is mental, as this type is not particularly sensual or amorous. However, they marry early in life, generally choosing a mate of their type and similar age who is equally energetic, stylish and enjoys life and its adventures. They make good husbands and wives, are extremely organized, have a well run impeccable, stylish home. Mercurians like a change of scene and are constantly active, like to travel because they cherish diverse experiences and have a restless side to their nature. Entertaining on a small scale with close friends or business associates or attending family gatherings is their preference. They love money and are not extravagant, spending carefully and in a controlled fashion, surrounding themselves with fine things that are excellent investments, but are generous with their families. Mercurians are at home as “after dinner speakers” as they express themselves well and say the” right thing at the right time”, which is also why they are some of the most successful comedians and actors. They gravitate to sports that require dexterity and skill rather than brute force such as tennis or soccer.
- Faults: Their natural shrewdness can sometimes lead them to dishonesty because it is so easy for them to outwit their contemporaries and business associates, which is a temptation they may have trouble resisting. Mercurians are aware that they can cheat and lie with ease and facility and still always find a loophole to crawl through that would exonerate them. They are capable of executing complex schemes if inclined. They also can deteriorate into complainers since their unrealistic expectation and demand for perfection is not often met.

- Following are some examples of newsworthy or famous people who share “some” of the physical characteristics of this personality type.

- Venusian

- Venusians are happy joyous and have a pleasant personality: balanced, generous and agreeable as well as fun loving and sympathetic. They are physically attractive (described as beautiful) and at peace with their family and the world, passionate and amorous in love. This is a sensual type. Venusians will never desert their friends in their hours of need. They are compassionate and unselfish. The comforts of family and home are primary to their nature and they do not desire great wealth or are particularly ambitious beyond embracing their joy of achieving a balanced life. They are talented, enjoy the melody of music, love to dance and are graceful. Their pure type is honest and truthful in dealing with their fellow man. Venusians are born of the earth, grounded and steady as well as having an extensive social life and only seeing the bright side in life. This type would never commit suicide.

- Professions: They are the life of any company they work for. Venusians do not value riches or wish to assume responsibility and are found in all walks of life that do not impose stress on this personality. They write well (are sentimental), are actors and actresses and musicians pursuing careers that will allow them to touch people’s hearts, sometimes taking on tragic parts that they utilize to skillfully move the audience to tears with the sincerity of their performance. They are drawn to the romance of the light opera (Puccini) and their resonant voice may lead them to become Tenors. They prefer jobs that are structured as they insist on a rhythm in their life, avoiding extremes.

- Colors: There are two pallets of color that appeal to this type. They love primary colors of pure blue, red, yellow and green. Sometimes as they are lovers of nature they will wear browns and beige.
- Physical Characteristics:
- Body type: They are of medium height, their body is graceful and shapely in both men and women. Venusians have a long and full neck which is shapely and their shoulders may droop slightly. They are not overly muscular but their bodies can be described as large- chested and having an overall healthy appearance. Their legs are long, they have high and round hips with small shapely feet and high arches and insteps that provide the elasticity in their walk. Their hands are balanced with finger length in proportion to their palm with broader nails tinged with pink and generally square fingertips that emphasize their practical approach to life.

- Facial Features: Their skin is white with some delicate pink color on their cheeks, it is fine and transparent in texture and soft to the touch. The shape of their face is round or oval with no prominent cheekbones and their cheeks are rounded, often showing dimples. The forehead is free of wrinkles and crows feet only appear late in life. The hair is abundant, wavy, silky tending to have a fine texture and they do not often grow bald. A telling feature of Venusians is they have large round or almond shape expressive eyes that reveal their tender nature, many having long eyelashes. The color can be either brown or blue. The nose of the Venusian is larger than smaller, possibly curved with broad nostrils. Their mouth is shaped beautifully with full red lips that are almost bow like. The voice of the Venusian is musical and full.
- Health: Venusians are a healthy type with a strong immune system which is normal to this type and they are not prone to diseases as there are not many chronic ailments attributed to this type. They of course will suffer the same normal acute diseases that affect everyone but their robust immune system combats them.
- Lifestyle: Venusians view life with a brightness and feel there is much to be thankful for and little to be discouraged about. They usually marry early in life and make devoted husbands and wives as well as committed parents to their many children and their assortment of pets. You will find them on the baseball or soccer field as coaches. They participate in charity causes and are volunteers for crisis victims as their heart is large and their sympathy is sincere and deep. They enjoy social gatherings, family events, melodious music and express themselves in dance. Venusians entertain often as they have great joy in pleasing others and having fun. They are not profoundly studious, lack seriousness but are loved by all and are content to simply enjoy life and all it has to offer, never holding grudges and only require the basic essentials to have a fulfilled existence and reject the stresses of striving for fame and wealth. Venusians are hard working. Employees valued for their consistency and ability to interface with others. Sports as amusement interest them, but they do not set out to the rigors of becoming a hero on the playing fields. An aura of laughter and fun surrounds them. Their homes are decorated in a way that is harmonious with nature with pictures of flowers, beautiful artwork and are comforting environments.
- Faults: It is difficult to attach faults to this type as they are generally so well balanced And free of many of the extreme tendencies of other types. They are always agreeable, never fickle, exude kindness, sympathy and tenderness to their friends and family. Their personality drives away selfishness, coldness and greediness of others and replaces it with generosity, warmth and love. Occasionally, driven by their desire to get along with everyone and avoid controversy at all costs, they can be careless in their decisions. Venusians strong physical passions may lead them down some crooked paths and create complications when they are young but this is not common as they control their strong desires and are deeply moral. Some may fault them for lack of ambition and bypassing the climb up the corporate ladder. They are not lazy, just disinterested in the brutal competition those goals would create. They have no criminal or suicidal tendencies. As Venusians have a healthy appetite they must guard against a tendency to gain weight.

- The following famous and newsworthy people have many of the physical characteristics of a Venusian and generally share “some” of the traits of the personality type. Mike Huckabee, Jennifer Lopez, Kate Winslet , Kevin Costner John Travolta, Patrick Swayze , George Clooney, Elvis Presley, Magic Johnson, Brittany Spears, Justin Beber, Mario Lopez, Maryilyn Monroe, Queen Latifah, Jessica Simpson.

*Remember, character analysis of each type is not “all or nothing” and it has a sliding scale of traits.
It is simply an overall guide to a general personality and behavior pattern.*
